It's also easy to use and a great way for businesses to reach hundreds of thousands of potential customers. But like many social media tools, there are lots of ways to use Instagram in a way that makes the brand look like it's not having a great experience. The good news is that, even if you don't have a team of experts handling your Instagram account, most things you can do yourself to make your photos look better and more polished. In this post, we'll be talking about top ten tips for improving your Instagram accounts. We'll cover everything from colours to specific lighting and photography techniques. But before we begin, here's our list of the top ten mistakes to avoid on your Instagram account to make your photos look better. 10 Instagram mistakes to avoid 1. Don't use auto-fill. If you haven't already got a good-looking Instagram profile, then it's going to be a hard sell to convince users to sign up for it. Use Instagram profiles without auto-fill so you can include the relevant information about who you are and what you're about. Your username should be your real name, for example. You can do this by manually typing your username. It's the best option to make sure your profile looks great and that the users find it easy to find. 2. Don't share self-prom 3da54e8ca3
