Tue, 15 Apr 2015 12:00:58 +0800Aegis RPG demo by New Fantasy RPG is now available at itch.io

Gematsu is proud to announce the availability of the Aegis fantasy RPG demo by one of New Fantasy RPG's designers, Zor_32! Though not quite the finished product, this demo offers an illuminating glimpse at some of the game's features.

Aegis is an easy-to-learn action RPG set in the Worlds Between. While the story unfolds on its own, you play as a tempter who, amid an ancient conflict, must find a missing god. Your destiny lies in finding and bringing back the lost saint, but the road ahead is perilous and filled with dangers you don't understand -- the gods and their desires are getting closer and they are no longer to be taken lightly...

Aegis requires the use of the Unity engine, and is available to download for free on the asset store in the week starting 17/04/2015. Players can also gift the game on itch.io for $0.99; the cost goes to the Australian charity, Viv's Aged Care.

The New Fantasy RPG duo is a group of young Australian game developers who have just over a year of experience in game production. They've already produced such well-known titles as Sailor Moon, Kijinjin, and several other titles, and have a strong success rate.
